

Encompass Health celebrates rebranding with NYSE ringing of The Closing Bell®

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 6, 2018 /PRNewswire/ -- Encompass Health Corporation (NYSE: EHC), the nation's leading owner and operator of inpatient rehabilitation hospitals and a leader in home-based care, will ring The Closing Bell at the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE) on Feb. 6, 2018, in celebration of the Company's rebrand from HealthSouth to Encompass Health. The rebrand was announced in July 2017, and the Company began trading under EHC on Jan. 2, 2018.

"It is an honor to ring The Closing Bell at the New York Stock Exchange," said Encompass Health President and Chief Executive Officer Mark Tarr. "The rebrand was the result of a yearlong, research-intensive process designed to support the Company's business strategy and its expanding national footprint. We believe the name Encompass Health reflects our commitment to setting new standards for delivering better care across the post-acute continuum. As we move forward under a new name, we will continue to build on our strong foundation as an integrated provider of inpatient and home-based care."

Encompass Health is focused on providing superior outcomes by delivering high-quality and cost-effective patient care across the post-acute continuum. The Company's success is defined by its patient-first approach to care and the dedication of its more than 37,000 employees.

Today also marks the launch of the new encompasshealth.com website and an updated social media presence, which will reflect the Company's new brand.
